CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. Any bid which is merely a nominal or fractional advance may be rejected by the auctioneer, if, in his judgment, such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

2. The highest bidder shall be the buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more bidders, the auctioneer shall either decide the same or put up for re-sale the lot so in dispute.

3. Payment shall be made of all or such part of the purchase money as may be required, and the names and addresses of the purchasers shall be given immediately on the sale of every lot, in default of which the lot so purchased shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

Payment of that part of the purchase money not made at the time of sale shall be made within ten days thereafter, in default of which the undersigned may either continue to hold the lots at the risk of the purchaser and take such action as may be necessary for the enforcement of the sale, or may at public or private sale, and without other than this notice, re-sell the lots for the benefit of such purchaser, and the deficiency (if any) arising from such re-sale shall be a charge against such purchaser.

4. Delivery of any purchase will be made only upon payment of the total amount due for all purchases at the sale.

Deliveries will be made on sales days between the hours of 9 A. M. and 1 P. M., and on other days—except holidays—between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M.

Delivery of any purchase will be made only at the American Art Galleries, or other place of sale, as the case may be, and only on presenting the bill of purchase.

Delivery may be made, at the discretion of the Association, of any purchase during the session of the sale at which it was sold.

5. Shipping, boxing or wrapping of purchases is a business in which the Association is in no wise engaged, and will not be performed by the Association for purchasers. The Association will, however, afford to purchasers every facility for employing at current and reasonable rates carriers and packers; doing so, however, without any assumption of responsibility on its part for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such service.

6. Storage of any purchase shall be at the sole risk of the purchaser. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter, while the Association will exercise due caution in caring for and delivering such purchase, it will not hold itself responsible if such purchase be lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed.

Storage charges will be made upon all purchases not removed within ten days from the date of the sale thereof.

7. Guarantee is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness or authenticity of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing, or any imperfection not noted. Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, after which it is sold "as is" and without recourse.

The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly, and will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued, and, in its judgment, may either sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby would become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without proper foundation.

No. 103— SURPRISE

95 00

Canvas: Height, 32 inches; width, 26 inches

A THREE-QUARTER length, life-size figure of a young woman in a Greek costume of white and lilac pink, with a wreath of morning-glories on her fair hair. The head is turned to the left, and the robes are held close to the figure, while the hands hold a distaff and a bobbin, the attitude suggesting that the young woman has been surprised at her work by some intruder. The work gives evidence in its execution of the clever technical ability, as well as of the historical knowledge, of a painter whose favorite subjects were found in classical antiquity.

No. 110— THE AUCTION SALE

Canvas: Height, 49½ inches; length, 62 inches

95 00

IN an artist's garret studio a sale of his pictures and effects is taking place before a numerous company of townspeople which includes two priests, artists, housewives and children. The auctioneer, at a high, improvised pulpit, covered with a piece of studio drapery, is holding up for inspection a framed picture of a Madonna, while two men on tiptoe are reaching up to examine it closely. The animated scene is depicted with a quiet sense of humor, and the work is a good example of competent German genre painting.

NICOLAS TOUSSAINT CHARLET

FRENCH: 1792—1845

No. 112— AFTER THE BATTLE

Water color: Height, 7½ inches; width, 5½ inches

A SCENE in a church, which is being used as a military hospital, with a wounded man, in the foreground, stretched out on a bed of hay. A priest, leaning over him, and another soldier complete the group. This picture possesses special interest as it is the work of a celebrated French painter of battles and military life who was the founder of the school that produced, after the war of 1870, such artists as Detaille and de Neuville. He was a pupil of Baron Gros.

FRENCH: 1684—1721

No. 153— VENUS AND MARS

(Copy of Rubens) J. M. Bailey

300 00 Canvas: Height, 19½ inches; width, 14 inches

A GROUP of two figures, from a composition by Peter Paul Rubens, showing Venus as a nude figure of blond type and Mars as a soldier in cuirass and helmet. Two Loves figure in the composition, one clinging to the figure of Venus, the other overhead. On the left is the trunk of a tree and, in the upper left, part of the figure of a woman, stretching out her hand in appeal as if opposed to the departure of Venus with Mars.

Written in ink on the back of the stretcher is a statement in French, of which the following is a translation:

"This study, after Rubens, the original of which is in the Museum at Munich, is by Watteau, who devoted much study to the great Flemish master, especially during his sojourn with Audran, decorator and keeper at the Palace of the Luxembourg (Medicis), the apartments of which were filled with Rubens's pictures, and this one probably belonged among them. The handling, the drawing, the color and the use of rich oil as a medium (Count de Caylus), and the vermilion-tinged extremities of the personages, all point to Watteau. M. Edmond de Goncourt, to whom I made known my discovery, is absolutely of my opinion and has authorized me to join it with my own.

AUGUSTIN THÉODULE RIBOT

FRENCH: 1823—1897

No. 169— THE SCRIVENER

Canvas: Height, 16 inches; width, 12½ inches

A SEATED figure, in profile view, of a man with a long black coat and blue nightcap, at a table and engaged in mending the point of a quill pen. The setting for the figure is a humble interior with shelves filled with books and other evidences of the calling of the occupant, who is probably a schoolmaster as well as a writer of letters and themes. The color scheme of restrained sober tints foreshadows the strong contrasts in lights and shades that are characteristic of a later period of Ribot's painting.

From the Henry Hilton Sale, 1900.

FRENCH: CONTEMPORARY

No. 170— LA JEUNE MÈRE

Panel: Height, 16½ inches; width, 12½ inches

AN excellent example of carefully executed, highly finished genre painting. A young mother, with gray skirt and white blouse, is seated with her infant held on her lap and being nourished. The setting for this domestic picture of motherly love is a comfortable bedroom with parquet floor and period furniture. On the left, in the background, is the mother's curtained bed; on the right the baby's cradle.

CHARLES ÉMILE JACQUE

FRENCH: 1813—1894

No. 171— READY TO START

Height, 15½ inches; width, 13 inches

A WHITE donkey, saddled and bridled, standing at the doorway of a stable, built of stone. At the right a hen looks hesitatingly forward before deciding to enter the stable door. An excellent example of Jacque.

Signed at the lower right-center, and dated 1869.

Property of the Estate of LORENA L. BARBER.

ÉDOUARD JEAN HAMMAN

BELGIAN: 1819—1888

No. 172— THE TERRACE J. M. Bailey

Canvas: Height, 18 inches; width, 15 inches

20 00

A GROUP of four figures, of whom three are women, seated and standing on a terrace at the head of stone steps at the left of the picture. With his right arm resting against a pillar, at the right, stands a man in costume of red of the period of Charles IX, who holds up his left hand as he addresses the ladies. As the latter are in the dress of the Second Empire it is presumable that the man is in costume for some ceremony or spectacle. The face of the lady who is sitting on the steps bears a resemblance to the Empress Eugénie.

Signed at the lower right, and dated 1854.

FRANCISCO PERALTA

SPANISH: (?) —1896

No. 173— THE PROPOSAL H. Masterson

Panel: Height, 19½ inches; width, 14 inches

70 00

A GROUP of two figures in the most elegant costumes of the Court of Henri Deux in the sumptuous surroundings of an apartment hung with rich, varicolored draperies. A lady with dress of ivory white, figured with gold and with gold embroidery is seated in an armchair facing a gentleman in costume of light blue and pink with cape of wine-colored velvet who is in the act of reaching out his hand to draw away a fan that the lady holds before her face to conceal her blushes. A brilliant example of the Spanish-Roman school of genre painting.

JOSEF DE RIBERA

SPANISH: 1558—1656

No. 217— THE MARTYRDOM OF SAINT BARTHOLOMEW

Canvas: Height, 60 inches; length, 76 inches

THIS impressive composition shows the nude figure of Saint Bartholomew, nude except for a white cloth about his loins, on the right of the canvas, in three-quarter length, life-size, upright with his arms stretched upward by ropes bound around his wrists. Cuts, made by the torturer, on his left breast have soaked the loin cloth with blood, and the scourger, in red turban, who is at his side, at the left of the saint, is making ready to inflict more wounds. At the extreme right is a boy carrying the saint's clothing; at the left are soldiers. The figure of the martyr, an elderly man with grizzled beard, his head drawn backward in pain, is of a fine golden tone and is modeled with breadth and virile handling. The picture as a whole gives evidence on its face of being the work of a painter of great ability.

FRENCH: 1804—1886

No. 238— A CEREMONY

Height, 10½ inches; length, 13¾ inches

THE scene is the interior of a church, with an altar back of which hangs a large cross. Here a kingly figure robed in red stands majestically, holding in his right hand a sword pointed at the zenith, and with his left extended toward an object on the altar, as if directing a red-robed man kneeling before him with arms reaching forward to make a vow. Seated near is a mitred figure, and among the large company of men and women in attendance in the body of the building now and then a lance projects and one man has arisen and holds aloft, point downward, his cross-hilted sword, as if to pledge, or as a symbolic reminder. Seemingly the sketch for a larger picture.

BROAD boulevard sidewalks, grayer than the gloaming sky, are busy with an active population, men, women and children, bent on their way or with time for idling; the chimney-pots and roof lines of the city are dark against the gray aloft. In the shop windows a glow appears and street lights show yellow below slender leafless trees.

120 00 K. Mortensen

A FULL-LENGTH, seated figure, in profile view with face to the right, of a young woman in a Directoire gown of wine-colored satin and wide gray sash. Before her, at a table of ebony and gold, she holds a book she is reading, and the apartment which forms the setting for the attractive figure, is furnished in the style of the period of passing from Louis Seize into the Empire. An excellent example of the work of a French genre painter whose pictures invariably give evidence of technical skill and pleasing choice of subjects.
